Reading

Children should return their books completed every week. They will be issued a new set of reading books at least once a week. We still have a wide range of texts in class, with dedicated weekly lessons to develop their reading skills and comprehension.

Children should be given a regular opportunity to read to you, where you can listen to their accuracy. They can read to themselves but you should also check their understanding of the text and ask them about their opinion.

In addition to the books sent home encourage reading in a variety of ways from using tablets to reading a match report in a newspaper. Most importantly remember reading should be a fun activity to interact with your child and not a chore.

We encourage the children to read other books on top of their schoolbooks to develop their love of reading. They can then complete a VIPERS book review which will count towards the 100-book challenge.
